CANTONESE FORCES ARE PUSHING WAY TOWARD SHANGHAI

MARSHAL SUN CHUAN-FANG TAKES UP STAND AT YENCHOW TODAY

FATE OF SHANGHAI UNDETERMINED; ARMY AWAITS DEVELOPMENTS

Peking, Feb. 5.—John A. Van MacMurray, American minister to Peking, conferred here today with Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, northern warlord, presumably on the situation at Shanghai, where 4,000 Americans are now massed.

Marshal Chang is one of the three northern warlords who formed a triple alliance to repulse the Cantonese attack rolling upon Shanghai from the south.

By CAL S. HIRSH (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Shanghai, Feb. 5.—Hurtled back by a crushing attack of the Cantonese forces pushing toward Shanghai, Marshal Sun Chuan-Fang, defending this port from the advance of the southern armies, took up his stand today at Yenchow, 160 miles south of here.

Yenchow thus became the base of the military operations which experts believed will determine the fate of Shanghai. The Cantonese were reported massing their battalions for a determined assault.

Marshal Sun dispatched 8,000 picked soldiers of his northern army from Hangchow to Yenchow where they will await the unleashing of the "big push." Hangchow, 85 miles south of here, was believed the immediate object of the Cantonese generals.

Meanwhile, the northern warlords, stirred to action by the apparent power of the Cantonese war machine, prepared for a counter-attack into the Cantonese lines which would split their northward-moving columns and force them to divert their attack upon Shanghai.

Two hundred thousand troops under Marshal Wu Pei-Fu, were being massed for an attack upon Hankow, scene of the recent negotiations between British Charge D'Affaires O'Malley and the Cantonese foreign minister, Eugene Chen.

Wu crushed a revolt of his officers, won them over to his side and has now moved them into a position where they are prepared to swing into an attack designed to split the Cantonese offensive.

Marshal Wu is one of the three northern warlords who entered into a triple entente at Tientsin several weeks ago for the self-admitted purpose of crushing the south Chinese attack upon north China and the Peking government. For the past few weeks, despite the growing indications of insurrection among his military chiefs, Marshal Wu Pei-Fu has been moving his troops southward preparatory to a general attack upon the Cantonese armies.

Of particular strategic importance, military experts said, is the conflict at Yenchow between one body of Cantonese and Marshal Sun. Hurtled back by the assault of the Cantonese regiments, the marshal and his troops retreated from Chuchow to Yenchow, harried continually by the advance guards of the southerners. There the main body of the Cantonese halted to await the arrival of heavier reinforcements before making a new assault.

But Marshal Sun, in spite of reinforcements rushed from the Chekiang province, was unable to stay the thrust of his adversaries and continued to retreat. Latest reports from the theatre of war indicated that the defending army, entrusted with the major phase of the defense of Shanghai, still was retreating but more stubbornly than at first.

Marshal Sun, too, is one of the three northern warlords who entered into the alliance to resist the Cantonese onrush. With Marshal Wu and Chang Tso-Lin, warlord of Peking, he agreed to co-operate against the south Chinese who seek control, military and political of all China. Marshal Wu's attack upon Hankow, while strategically important from a Chinese point of view, will bring two major Chinese forces into conflict without involving foreign nationals to such an extent as would an assault upon Shanghai.

NOT ASHAMED OF MARRIAGE TO ACCOMPANIST

Los Angeles, Feb. 5.—(UP)—"I don't care who knows it," sang Eva Tanguay, hoydenish vaudeville entertainer, today, admitting her marriage to Allan Parado, her accompanist.

The agile actress said she and her young Hungarian pianist were wed a month ago, but decided it shouldn't be kept a secret longer. There is some difference in their ages, Eva admitted, but said she didn't expect this to figure in their happiness.

They will spend their honeymoon here and at nearby beaches.

EFFORTS BY WIFE TO OBTAIN TEMPORARY ALIMONY ARE BLOCKED

RECEIVERS WILL TAKE COMPLETE INVENTORY OF CHARLIE'S ASSETS

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 5.—(UP)—Every effort to obtain payment of $4,000 temporary alimony awarded to Lita Grey Chaplin having been blocked, attorneys for the comedian's wife again turned their attention today to Charlie Chaplin's safe deposit boxes in local banks.

Following the decision of Dist. Atty. Asa Keyes not to consider issuing a complaint against the comedian charging failure to provide for his wife and children, pending the divorce proceedings, Mrs. Chaplin's attorneys held a conference with receivers appointed several weeks ago by the court.

At the conclusion of the meeting it was announced that the receivers would take a complete inventory of Chaplin's assets in local banks.

Whether this move will be taken today or Monday could not be learned, but it was stated that the government income tax liens against the comedian's assets would not prevent the inventory.

Decision to examine the contents of the safe deposit boxes is expected to either affirm or disprove rumors that Chaplin had on hand at all times large sums of cash.

COAL MINE MISHAPS CLAIM 2,510 LIVES

Washington, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Coal mine accidents in the United States during 1926 caused deaths of 2,510 persons, the bureau of mines announced today.

With an output of 663,290,000 tons, the fatality rate was 3.78 per million tons, slightly less than the 1925 rate. Explosives, falls of coal and gas and dust explosions were principal causes of the accidents.

far east within a short time. Political leaders here felt that Italy should have a war unit in China during the present crisis which would be compatible with the dignity of a world power.

The feeling was expressed in the phrase "Italy will not be absent," which appeared in many newspaper articles. It was generally understood, however, that Italy would intervene in China only in the role of a defensive nation. It was stressed that Italy has no intention of interfering with China's internal problems.

Tokio, Feb. 5.—Threats of south Chinese nationalists to seize the Hanyeping iron mine, near Hankow, where Japanese have invested approximately $22,000,000, have caused fear here that Japan is also an object of the anti-foreign sentiment now rampant in the Yangtze river valley.

Reports to the Yokohama specie bank, one of Japan's largest banking institutions with branches throughout Asia, said that Chinese loans have been endorsed by the Canton government in their determination to nationalize the mine.

The mine is practically the sole source of pig iron used in Japan's steel plants.

THREE SHELTON BROTHERS TO BE COMMITTED TO JAIL FOR MAIL ROBBERY

THEIR IMPRISONMENT WILL LEAVE BOOTLEGGING GANG WITHOUT LEADER

By BERT M. DENBY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Quincy, Ill., Feb. 5.—(UP)—Battle-scarred Williamson county in southern Illinois today faced the prospects of temporary relief from the feuds that have caused her to be known as "Bloody Williamson."

Unless a new trial is granted the three Shelton brothers who were convicted here yesterday of the $15,000 Collinsville mail robbery, will be committed to prison and the war for supremacy in the liquor business in southern Illinois will be abated.

The Shelton boys—Earl, Carl and Bernie—were leaders of one faction in the fight for control of the illicit liquor trade. Their imprisonment will leave their gang without leaders and their arch-enemy, Charley Birger, will be unopposed.

Marion, Ill., Feb. 5.—Williamson county today looked forward to an era of peace.

The conviction at Quincy of the three Shelton brothers and the arrest of their rival gang leader, Charley Birger, means that this county of bloodshed and violence will be relieved for a time at least of the feuds that made it famous, county officials predicted.

Records of the coroner show that 200 persons have died "from unknown hands" and by "justifiable homicide" since the mine riots of June, 1922.

Exodus of the five per cent held responsible for this record has already started and Sheriff Oran Coleman predicts that the rest will leave now that their leaders are out of the way.

Coleman has equipped his force with steel jackets and machine guns at his own expense to fight any who remain. He is determined that "Bloody Williamson" shall redeem itself.

Quincy, Ill., Feb. 5.—The three Shelton brothers, convicted on a charge of mail robbery, were sentenced by Judge Louis Fitzhenry to 25 years' imprisonment each today.

FARM LEADER ATTACKS CRISP-CURTIS BILL

FARM RELIEF BILL WILL BE CONSIDERED IN THE HOUSE NEXT WEEK

WILL ATTEMPT TO SUBSTITUTE THIS MEASURE FOR McNARY-HAUGEN BILL

Washington, Feb. 5.—(UP)—The Crisp-Curtis relief bill was vigorously attacked in the house today by Rep. Dickinson, republican, Iowa, farm bloc leader.

Administration leaders are planning to attempt to substitute this measure for the McNary-Haugen bill when farm relief is considered next week.

Dickinson said the Crisp bill would force American agriculture to operate under world conditions instead of domestic.

"Never before in history," said Dickinson, "has this been suggested. 'If you New England members choose to support the Crisp bill you will give advocates of downward revision of the tariff the best argument possible.'"

"The Crisp bill is loosely drawn and its definition of a surplus is as clear as mud."

BLAST AND FIRE WRECKS CHURCH, KILLING TWO

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH AT TOLEDO LOWERED TODAY

GAS LEAK BELIEVED CAUSE OF EXPLOSION; $60,000 DAMAGE

Toledo, O., Feb. 5.—A blast which wrecked the First Congregational church here today claimed two lives and probably fatally injured a third person.

The bodies of Clyde Wilt and his wife, Mrs. Kate Wilt, who was a janitress of the church, were recovered from the ruins of the fashionable church several hours after the explosion and fire.

Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald, janitress, was severely burned and hospital attaches said she might not survive. The explosion hurled doors and windows of the church for many feet and rocked homes of the wealthy in the vicinity. Flames were sent flying in the air but did little damage.

Authorities were investigating reports that the blast might have been caused by a "fire bug" but it was generally believed to have been due to a gas leak. Damage was estimated at $60,000.

Wilt had accompanied his wife to work and had entered the church with her when the explosion occurred. Mrs. Fitzgerald had arrived earlier.

The church was expensively furnished and the art windows were costly glass works. The church was almost completely demolished by the explosion and fire.

Snow and sleet in the streets hampered the firemen and caused a number of traffic accidents during the blaze.

Lancaster, Wis., Feb. 5.—(UP)—William N. Coffey, who killed his bigamous wife with a baseball bat, dismembered her body and buried it near Plattville, Wis., pleaded guilty to first degree murder today and was sentenced to life imprisonment—the maximum penalty in Wisconsin.

The motive for the crime, according to Coffey's confession, was to conceal the fact that he was a bigamist and to obtain property of the woman he killed, Mrs. Hattie Hales Coffey.

INVENTION TAKES ELECTRIC POWER FROM ATMOSPHERE

ALTHOUGH ALTERNATING CURRENT WILL OPERATE DIRECT CURRENT FAN

UNIQUE GENERATOR INVENTED BY E. S. LEWIS AND FRED WALDEN, DENVER

By ARTHUR F. DEGREVE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Denver, Colo., Feb. 5.—Admitting that they were puzzled, engineers of the Westinghouse Electric Company today ordered more delicate instruments sent here to test the unique powers of the "atmospheric generator" invented by E. G. Lewis and Fred Walden, Denver men.

After identifying the current as high frequency alternating current, the engineers said it was different from anything they ever had encountered before.

The generator takes electric power from the atmosphere and converts it into current of high voltage without chemical or mechanical means, its inventors claim.

Although alternating, the current will operate a direct current fan, resulting, according to the engineers, from the fact that the alternating waves are of such frequency that the current approximates a direct current.

The secret of the generator is said to lie in the method of winding a coil of copper current producing coil around a core of metal. While the engineers hesitated on commenting on the invention, they admitted readily if the claims borne out by preliminary tests proved true, the power industry would be revolutionized.

After spending most of yesterday closely scrutinizing the current, the engineers revealed that the following facts had been brought out:

It is of high voltage, the small model producing from 100 to 200 volts.

Earth magnetism plays no part with the generation. The apparatus was placed in a steel safe and continued functioning.

It is re-generative current. Voltmeter tests showed the voltage decreased when lights or fans were operated, but returned to maximum when the lights were disconnected.

Three-hundred watt light globes can be illuminated at normal brilliancy.

The current registered five amperes under amateur tests.

Despite its high voltage, the current produces no shock to the human system.

Lewis and Walden conceived the idea of the "atmospheric generator" while tinkering with a radio, they said.

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 5.—(UP)—Speeding across the Great Northern railroad yards at Hilliard, near here, the Oriental Limited, crack trans-continental train of the Great Northern, today demolished two switch engines and crashed on its side when it ran through an open switch.

The Limited was eastbound. It left Seattle last night at 8 o'clock.

CONGRESS HAS GONE OVER THE BUDGET ESTIMATES

TABULATION SHOWS CONGRESS HAS SPENT AN EXCESS $1,187,841

SLASHES OF $4,637,833 LEAVES FAVORABLE BALANCE OF $3,449,992

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 5.—(UP)—After having economized closely for the last few years, congress is now going on a little spending spree.

A tabulation of appropriation bills made by the United Press today, showed congress has gone $1,187,841 over budget estimates in providing funds for the army and navy, state, justice, commerce, labor and agriculture departments.

Through dint of early stringent savings, however, the total of all appropriations planned for next year is $3,449,992 under the budget estimates—largely because $3,269,150 was lopped off the treasury department appropriation bill.

All of the regular bills either have been passed or are on their way toward final adoption.

Congress has gone over the budget estimates in the following cases: state, justice, commerce and labor departments, $480,810; war department, $224,856; navy, $102,959; agriculture, $296,716, and the first deficiency bill, $82,500.

Congress has cut the budget estimates as follows: congressional departments, $46,541; District of Columbia, $109,623; independent offices, $60,833; interior department, $1,151,686 and treasury and post office departments, $3,269,150.

These big slashes were made early in the session before the rivers and harbors bill was passed and before expectations of tax reduction went aglimmering.

In all, congress has slashed $4,637,833 from the budget estimates and added $1,187,841, leaving it a favorable balance of $3,449,922. This, however, is not as great as in previous years and there are possibilities that the balance will be still further reduced.

It is expected that all the measures except the second deficiency bill, which has not yet been framed, will pass both houses by the end of next week.

LINER PRESIDENT HARDING REPORTED IN TROUBLE TODAY

New York, Feb. 25.—(UP)—The United States liner President Harding, which a year ago figured in one of the most thrilling rescues in the annals of the sea, today was in serious trouble herself.

Her oil exhausted by a continuous fight with heavy seas and wind, her speed slowed down to less than half, the liner was moving slowly toward Halifax and will be days overdue reaching here. A leak in a main fuel tank, into which salt water seeped, was given as the cause of her distress.

The President Harding left Queens-town on Jan. 28 and was due to arrive here yesterday. Instead of proceeding directly to New York, however, its owners announced, the liner will head for Halifax, replenish there its fuel tanks, and continue to New York. The liner played the principal role in the rescue of the crew of the Italian freighter Ignazio Florio last year.

Other trans-Atlantic liners were overdue because of mid-Atlantic storms. Among them were the Conte

HOUSE LEADERS SEEK TO ESTABLISH ECONOMY RECORD

RESULTS OF INVESTIGATIONS HAVE BEEN DISAPPOINTING, SAID TILSON

MANY RESOLUTIONS NOW RESTING ON SHELF OF RULES COMMITTEE

By WILLIAM J. McEVROY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 5.—(UP)—By turning a deaf ear to all demands for investigations, house leaders believe they have established an economy record which succeeding congresses will find it hard to beat.

Thus far in the 69th congress resolutions of investigation into a multitude of subjects have been pigeon-holed by the rules committee. Only one investigation has been made by a house committee and that was required to determine whether former Federal Judge George W. English, of the eastern district of Illinois, was subject to impeachment.

The English investigation was conducted by the judiciary committee and cost $3,000. Had other demands for investigations been granted, Rep. Tilson, Connecticut, republican leader, estimated, the probe bill of the house would have been $50,000.

"We have found in the house," said Tilson, "that the results of investigations, from a legislative standpoint, have been very disappointing. All investigations are made with a view to legislation but we have had very few tangible dividends from them."

Some of the major resolutions now resting on the shelf of the rules committee call for the following investigations:

Anti-Saloon League and its payment of funds to congressmen for dry speeches; Association Against the Prohibition Amendment; alien property custodian; crop insurance; national defense; what in fact constitutes an intoxicating beverage; the aluminum industry; control and production of chemicals and dyes; prohibition conditions; Philippine Islands; court-martial of Colonel William Mitchell; crime; the parole system, and Henry Ford's charge that the federal reserve system is controlled by the "International Jew."

HELD IN CONNECTION WITH SALE OF $51,000 OF STOLEN BONDS

Minneapolis, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Two men were held in jail heretoday in connection with the sale of $51,000 worth of stolen bonds to Minneapolis banks, which were part of the $270,000 liberty bond loot taken from the J. F. Wild bank, Indianapolis, on Nov. 20, 1926.

Harold Daniels, automobile dealer and Samuel Kroman, attorney, were arrested when word was received by the Federal Reserve bank that the bonds were stolen securities.

Daniels admitted selling the bonds but declared that he did not know they had been stolen. Kroman persuaded him, he said to sell the bonds in lieu of a $1,500 loan he made to Daniels.

Kroman is one of the score of twin city men who were indicted by the Cleveland grand jury in connection with the nation wide alcohol ring.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 5.—Admitting that they were puzzled, engineers of the Westinghouse Electric Company today ordered more delicate instruments sent here to test the unique powers of the "atmospheric generator" invented by E. S. Lewis and Fred Walden, Denver men.

After identifying the current as high frequency alternating current, the engineers said it was different from anything they ever had encountered before.

The generator takes electric power from the atmosphere and converts it into current of high voltage without chemical or mechanical means, its inventors claim.

Although alternating, the current will operate a direct current fan, resulting, according to the engineers, from the fact that the alternating waves are of such frequency that the current approximates a direct current.

The secret of the generator is said to lie in the method of winding a coil of copper current producing coil around a core of metal. While the engineers hesitated on commenting on the invention, they admitted if the claims borne out by preliminary tests proved true, the power industry would be revolutionized.

After spending most of yesterday closely scrutinizing the current, the engineers revealed that the following facts had been brought out:

It is of high voltage, the small model producing from 100 to 200 volts.

Earth magnetism plays no part with the generation. The apparatus was placed in a steel safe and continued functioning.

It is re-generative current. Voltmeter tests showed the voltage decreased when lights or fans were operated, but returned to maximum when the lights were disconnected.

Three-hundred watt light globes can be illuminated at normal brilliancy.

The current registered five amperes under amateur tests.

Despite its high voltage, the current produces no shock to the human system.

Lewis and Walden conceived the idea of the "atmospheric generator" while tinkering with a radio, they said.

CRACK TRANS-CONTINENTAL TRAIN OF G. N. CRASHES THROUGH SWITCH

ERNIE SMITH, ENGINEER OF LIMITED, ONLY ONE INJURED

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 5.—(UP)—Speeding across the Great Northern railroad yards at Hillyard, near here, the Oriental Limited, crack trans-continental train of the Great Northern, today demolished two switch engines and crashed on its side when it ran through an open switch.

Only one person, Ernie Smith, engineer of the Limited, was injured. Only two coaches of the Limited followed the engine in its dash. They did not turn over.

The Limited was eastbound. It left Seattle last night at 8 o'clock.

McALESTER BANK OPENS WITH MARINE PROTECTION

McAlester, Okla., Feb. 5.—(UP)—With three marines armed with machine guns standing guard, the First National Bank of McAlester opened for business today—the only active banking institution in McAlester.

Bank officials and citizens were generally optimistic over ability of the institution to withstand a heavy run caused by the closing of the $2,000,000 McAlester Trust company, the Bank of North McAlester, and other small banks in this vicinity yesterday.

CONGRESS HAS GONE OVER THE BUDGET ESTIMATES

TABULATION SHOWS CONGRESS HAS SPENT AN EXCESS $1,187,841

SLASHES OF $4,637,833 LEAVES FAVORABLE BALANCE OF $3,449,992

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 5.—(UP)—After having economized closely for the last few years, congress is now going on a little spending spree.

A tabulation of appropriation bills made by the United Press today, showed congress has gone $1,187,841 over budget estimates in providing funds for the army and navy, state, justice, commerce, labor and agriculture departments.

Through dint of early stringent savings, however, the total of all appropriations planned for next year is $3,449,992 under the budget estimates—largely because $3,269,150 was lopped off the treasury department appropriation bill.

All of the regular bills either have been passed or are on their way toward final adoption.

Congress has gone over the budget estimates in the following cases: state, justice, commerce and labor departments, $480,810; war department, $224,856; navy, $102,959; agriculture, $296,716, and the first deficiency bill, $82,500.

Congress has cut the budget estimates as follows: congressional departments, $46,541; District of Columbia, $109,623; independent offices, $60,833; interior department, $1,151,686 and treasury and post office departments, $3,269,150.

These big slashes were made early in the session before the rivers and harbors bill was passed and before expectations of tax reduction went aglimmering.

In all, congress has slashed $4,637,833 from the budget estimates and added $1,187,841, leaving it a favorable balance of $3,449,992. This, however, is not as great as in previous years and there are possibilities that the balance will be still further reduced.

It is expected that all the measures except the second deficiency bill, which has not yet been framed, will pass both houses by the end of next week.

LINER PRESIDENT HARDING REPORTED IN TROUBLE TODAY

New York, Feb. 25.—(UP)—The United States liner President Harding, which a year ago figured in one of the most thrilling rescues in the annals of the sea, today was in serious trouble herself.

Her oil exhausted by a continuous fight with heavy seas and wind, her speed slowed down to less than half, the liner was moving slowly toward Halifax and will be days overdue reaching here. A leak in a main fuel tank, into which salt water seeped, was given as the cause of her distress.

The President Harding left Queens-town on Jan. 28 and was due to arrive here yesterday. Instead of proceeding directly to New York, however, its owners announced, the liner will head for Halifax, replenish there its fuel tanks, and continue to New York. The liner played the principal role in the rescue of the crew of the Italian freighter Ignazio Florio last year.

Other trans-Atlantic liners were overdue because of mid-Atlantic storms. Among them were the Conte

HOUSE LEADERS SEEK TO ESTABLISH ECONOMY RECORD

RESULTS OF INVESTIGATIONS HAVE BEEN DISAPPOINTING, SAID TILSON

MANY RESOLUTIONS NOW RESTING ON SHELF OF RULES COMMITTEE

By WILLIAM J. McEVROY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Feb. 5.—(UP)—By turning a deaf ear to all demands for investigations, house leaders believe they have established an economy record which succeeding congresses will find it hard to beat.

Thus far in the 69th congress resolutions of investigation into a multitude of subjects have been pigeon-holed by the rules committee. Only one investigation has been made by a house committee and that was required to determine whether former Federal Judge George W. English, of the eastern district of Illinois, was subject to impeachment.

The English investigation was conducted by the judiciary committee and cost $3,000. Had other demands for investigations been granted, Rep. Tilson, Connecticut, republican leader, estimated, the probe bill of the house would have been $50,000.

"We have found in the house," said Tilson, "that the results of investigations, from a legislative standpoint, have been very disappointing. All investigations are made with a view to legislation but we have had very few tangible dividends from them."

Some of the major resolutions now resting on the shelf of the rules committee call for the following investigations:

Anti-Saloon League and its payment of funds to congressmen for dry speeches; Association Against the Prohibition Amendment; alien property custodian; crop insurance; national defense; what in fact constitutes an intoxicating beverage; the aluminum industry; control and production of chemicals and dyes; prohibition conditions; Philippine islands; court-martial of Colonel William Mitchell; crime; the parole system; and Henry Ford's charge that the federal reserve system is controlled by the "International Jew."

HELD IN CONNECTION WITH SALE OF $51,000 OF STOLEN BONDS

Minneapolis, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Two men were held in jail heretoday in connection with the sale of $51,000 worth of stolen bonds to Minneapolis banks, which were part of the $270,000 liberty bond loot taken from the J. F. Wild bank, Indianapolis, on Nov. 20, 1926.

Harold Daniels, automobile dealer and Samuel Kroman, attorney, were arrested when word was received by the Federal Reserve bank that the bonds were stolen securities.

Daniels admitted selling the bonds but declared that he did not know they had been stolen. Kroman persuaded him, he said to sell the bonds in lieu of a $1,500 loan he made to Daniels.

Kroman is one of the score of twin city men who were indicted by the Cleveland grand jury in connection with the nation wide alcohoholing.

FOUR ST. PAUL BANDITS ROB $375 PAYROLL

St. Paul, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Four young bandits robbed the H. B. Fuller Paste Co. of a $375 payroll at noon today.

Three girls were forced to lie on the floor as were others in the office, while the quartet looted the safe. H. B. Fuller, president of the company, was searched by one of the gang who took a billfold containing a small sum.

Escape was made by means of an automobile.

Philadelphia, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Because of her refusal to re-establish their home after a separation had broken it up, Mrs. Emmeline Mallock, 25, was shot and killed today by her husband, David, who then turned the weapon on himself and committed suicide.

The tragedy was witnessed by the couple's three children, two of whom lived with their mother, while the third, a three year old boy had been brought by his father to strengthen his plea for reconciliation.

The couple formerly lived at Morrisville, N. J. Following their separation Mrs. Mallock came to Philadelphia while her husband remained in New Jersey.

YOUTHS ATEEMPTING TO CRACK SAFE ARE CAPTURED

Philadelphia, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Capture of two 20 year old youths ended a five hour siege of a lumber yard by police today that was featured by occasional shooting and the slight injury of four policemen. The siege, which occupied 30 police, started when a watchman surprised three yeggs attempting to crack the office safe of the William H. Lear Lumber company.

An attempt to surround the office alarmed the bandits and they fled to the yard, taking refuge in the shows of the lumber piles.

Reinforcements were sent for and with an occasional pistol flash lighting up the picture, the policemen undertook siege operations.

The policemen's injuries were all suffered in falls off lumber piles. The two suspects surrendered at daylight and the third man whom police believe was wounded, is being sought.

NURSE SUICIDES; CUTS VEIN WITH SMALL SCISSORS

Chicago, Feb. 5.—(UP)—A letter which Margaret Lee Grant addressed to her parents in Marion, Ind., shortly before she ended her life in a hotel room was counted upon today by authorities to give an explanation of her suicide.

With all the skill she had learned as a trained nurse, Miss Grant made an incision in her arm, then cut a vein with a small pair of scissors, and left her arm hanging loosely over the edge of her bed, the blood dripping in a basin she had carefully set in place.

Miss Grant, a striking young woman of 25, had been engaged for several years as a nurse. Her friends could offer no explanation for the apparent suicide and the only clue was the letter addressed to her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Martin Lee Grant. The letter is to be opened at the coroner's inquest.

Philadelphia, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Because of her refusal to re-establish their home after a separation had broken it up, Mrs. Emmeline Mallock, 25, was shot and killed today by her husband, David, who then turned the weapon on himself and committed suicide.

The tragedy was witnessed by the couple's three children, two of whom lived with their mother, while the third, a three year old boy had been brought by his father to strengthen his plea for reconciliation.

The couple formerly lived at Morrisville, N. J. Following their separation Mrs. Mallock came to Philadelphia while her husband remained in New Jersey.

During the journey, Blais had no sleep. He stopped every six hours, however, for rest and refreshment. He was in fair condition when he arrived here, but hastily went to bed.

The hike was a feature of the two-day carnival of the Canadian and American Snow Shoe unions, which opened here today. A brass band met Blais on the outskirts of the city and escorted him to a hotel.

YOUTHS ATEMPTING TO CRACK SAFE ARE CAPTURED

Philadelphia, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Capture of two 20 year old youths ended a five hour siege of a lumber yard by police today that was featured by occasional shooting and the slight injury of four policemen. The siege, which occupied 30 police, started when a watchman surprised three yeggs attempting to crack the office safe of the William H. Lear Lumber company.

An attempt to surround the office alarmed the bandits and they fled to the yard, taking refuge in the shows of the lumber piles.

Reinforcements were sent for and with an occasional pistol flash lighting up the picture, the policemen undertook siege operations.

The policemen's injuries were all suffered in falls off lumber piles. The two suspects surrendered at daylight and the third man whom police believe was wounded, is being sought.

NURSE SUICIDES; CUTS VEIN WITH SMALL SCISSORS

Chicago, Feb. 5.—(UP)—A letter which Margaret Lee Grant addressed to her parents in Marion, Ind., shortly before she ended her life in a hotel room was counted upon today by authorities to give an explanation of her suicide.

With all the skill she had learned as a trained nurse, Miss Grant made an incision in her arm, then cut a vein with a small pair of scissors, and left her arm hanging loosely over the edge of her bed, the blood dripping in a basin she had carefully set in place.

Miss Grant, a striking young woman of 25, had been engaged for several years as a nurse. Her friends could offer no explanation for the apparent suicide and the only clue was the letter addressed to her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Martin Lee Grant. The letter is to be opened at the coroner's inquest.

WANT STATEMENT OF DEFALCATIONS OF W. C. MARTIN

FORMER STATE TREASURER
PLEADED GUILTY TO EM-
BEZZLEMENT

INVESTIGATION OF CHARGE IN THE HANDS OF HENRY
RINES

St. Paul, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Resolution demanding that the "Big Three" give a complete statement relative to the defalcations of Walter C. Martin, former state treasurer, is expected to be introduced in the state senate Tuesday, it was learned today.

Martin pleaded guilty to embezzlement of approximately $11,000, covering a period of several years, but the amount of the shortage has since been found to exceed $20,000, it is said. Martin is now serving a sentence in Stillwater prison.

The investigation of Martin's peculations has been under direct personal charge of Henry Rines, chairman, commission of administration and finance, who was state treasurer during the time covered by the defalcations.

Julius Schmahl, state treasurer, announced late Friday that he had asked the National Surety Co., Martin's bondsmen, when it could be ready to make good the shortage.

"I was informed," said Schmahl, "that the company stands ready and has been ready for months, to pay the state the amount of the defalcation, but that it has not yet been furnished with a complete statement of the amounts taken from the treasury."

Dissatisfaction among legislative members with the "Big Three" and its administration of affairs, is said to have resulted from the handling of the entire situation.

BANK HEAD KILLS SELF WORRYING OVER DEFALCATIONS

New York, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Worry over minor defalcations by three trusted young employees, was held responsible today for the suicide of William E. Knox, president of the Bowery Savings bank yesterday.

Although the amount taken by the employees—$45,000—touched the bank's immense resources lightly, it is believed that Knox suffered a mental and nervous breakdown through worry over the faithfulness of the men he trusted.

The bank's financial affairs were sound, it was said today. Knox's funeral will be held tomorrow.

Could Do That Much

"It's a shame you don't know anything about cooking," the young husband informed his bride after the honeymoon. "Everybody ought to know how to cook. Why, I learned how myself in the army."

"Oh, well, I can warm a few beans, if that's what you mean."

Talk Softly

"Pa," said Clarence, "what's this 'double jeopardy' I see mentioned so often in the papers lately mean any way?"

"That, son, is what a man is up against when he is getting orders from both his wife and his mother-in-law," whispered his dad.

His Preference

"Why do you prefer going to gym instead of to this party with me?" demanded his wife.

"Because," he growled, "if I have to spend the evening with a lot of dumbbells, I much prefer spending it with the kind that don't chatter."

Washington, Feb. 5.—(UP)—The U. S. and Germany have concluded an agreement providing for payment to this government of its 2 1/4 per cent share in German reparations payment under the Paris experts' plan, the state department announced today.

The agreement does not cover American army occupation costs now being repaid at the rate of $13,000,000 annually.

ILLINOIS RIVER IS RISING RAPIDLY

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 5.—(UP)—With ice 18 inches thick still holding in the upper lake here, the Illinois river is rising rapidly, showing a rise of 1.4 feet here in the past 24 hours. At 6 a. m. it registered 17.6 and two hours later 17.7. A stage of 18 feet is expected by evening. Precautions are being taken to prevent threatened damage when the ice goes out.

Skowhegan's Fame

That quaint old town in Maine known as Skowhegan makes a bid for fame by claiming to have a hand-made wagon 105 years of age, in use for nearly all that time, being the first wagon brought into that part of the state. It was built along the lines of the old Conestoga high wagons familiar through the central part of the country when the old National pike was the one great and only highway to the West. It has wooden axles and a set of heavy leather springs under the bed. It shows traces of much wear but has been kept well-painted and has attracted much attention.

"I've come for that situation you're advertising," he said.

"Pooh! That's on the state of affairs," began the new agent, but the other interrupted:

"I don't care whose estate it's on. I'll take it."—Trib.

An old gentleman, watch in hand, stopped a passing instructor at a bathing pool.

"Instructor," he said, "what is the longest time anybody ever stayed under water?"

"Why, about five minutes, I guess," said the instructor.

"Then," said the old gentleman, "there's a fat business man over there in the deep part of the pool who has broken all the records. I've been timing him. He's been down over nine minutes now, and you can see for yourself, that he shows no signs of coming up yet."

Entitled To It

The unattractive daughter of a general had received a proposal from a subaltern. "Dad," she said, "Elbert has proposed to me and he's only a second lieutenant. Now you must do something for him."

"I can't promote him over the heads of the others, but I will have him cited for gallantry."

An Idea

One Neighbor (to another)—Is this your advertisement in the paper for a lost dog?

"Yes."

"Why, you never had a dog to lose."

"I know; but I want one now, and I think I can make a satisfactory selection from the animals the advertisement will bring in."

Anarchists Defined

Two children were engaged in an absorbing conversation.

New York City.—A romance that grew out of a double doubling in Ziegfeld shows last year has ended in one of Broadway's happiest marriages. The principals in this romance are Ethel Shutta, described by critics as the world's funniest comedienne, and George Olsen, famous orchestra leader and night club owner.

The two met when both were playing in the Ziegfeld Follies. Each was also doubling in another Ziegfeld show, Miss Shutta, in Louis XIV, Olsen in Kid Boots. Each had about twenty minutes to get from one theatre to the other every evening and usually they bumped into each other in the scramble. Their courtship began with smiles and "beg your pardons" and ended—

"Well, maybe it's too soon to say that it ended with us both living happily forever after," says Mr. Olsen, "but that's the present status. Miss Shutta gave up the stage and settled down in our home on Long Island. She won't keep a maid because she is so crazy about housework and how she can cook—boy!"

"Every day she has a new offer at a higher figure from some producer to go back to the stage, but always she refuses. We've been married going on a year now and she still refuses, but I am beginning to feel selfish. After all, I ought any husband to allow his wife to give up a career when she was such a wonder at it? That's what I ask myself. So pretty soon, I may urge my wife to come out of her kitchen."

Miss Shutta, who is pretty as well as funny and just brimming over with what is vaguely called personality, isn't sure she will want to come out of the kitchen.

"Did you ever bake biscuits and funny little things called popovers?" she inquires. "And did you ever have an appreciative husband? He's quite as good for applause as an audience, you know."

Mr. Olsen leads the orchestra at Hotel Pennsylvania and is a radio favorite. Also it's conceded that the number he plays most effectively is "Where'd You Get Those Eyes?" which, by the way, he always plays to Mrs. Olsen, no matter who else the audience may be.

USING HIS PEAT LANDS

THE DISPATCH notes with interest the announcement of John Hirschey, who has a farm near Staples, to start celery growing. He has secured an expert grower from Hollandale who will arrive early in the spring.

As recorded in the Staples World, Mr. Hirschey made a trip to Hollandale last summer and inspected the big development project that has been so successful there. While there he asked some of the Hollandale truck farmers to visit him and one of the men came to the Hirschey farm last year.

After a thorough investigation of the location, soil and drainage, he said that the peat land in this section was some of the very best in the country.

Mr. Hirschey has a lot of confidence in the peat land in this section and is willing to back his ideas with a lot of hard work and some money. If the project pays, he will be several thousand dollars ahead, if not he will be out his labor and some money besides.

From experiments carried out in Crow Wing county, but a short distance from the Staples area, potatoes have thrived well in peat soil when properly treated. The Hollandale agriculturists are native Dutchmen with years of experience in the peat soils of Holland. They have made the section near Albert Lea blossom like a rose, producing such a wealth of products that two railways built lines to tap the region. They raise celery, potatoes, all manner of garden produce and some of the finest flowers ever seen.

Central Minnesota will do well to follow the experiments at the Hirschey farm and the success, if any, attained by the Hollandale expert. If the Staples peat land farm can be made to produce money making crops, then hundreds of acres of similar land in Crow Wing county await only the touch of the expert to burst into valuable crops, enriching both the landholder and the territory in which the farm is located.

THE FUTURE OF FAIRS

IT must be conceded that the advent of the automobile, the movie and the radio has brought about changes which challenge the ingenuity of fair officials to plan and build exhibitions which will attract the attention and the interest of a public that is no longer provincial.

With efficient and resourceful management, a carefully planned budget and the right publicity, a fair can be staged that will be a financial, educational and inspiration success. This recipe will not work if the weather man refuses to meet the fair management half way and stages a "rain out," but over a period of years it has produced results and will continue to do so in the future.

We may have overplayed our hand in organizing too many county fairs but where this condition exists the logical development will bring the elimination of the weaker fairs and, through the survival of the fittest, stronger regional and district fairs will be fostered.

Wonderful progress has been made in the last decade in building better fairs, and the end is not yet. We have not reached the ideal. The day may come when fairs will be supported by taxation to the extent that no fair board will have to gamble with weather conditions, when the difference between the legitimate revenues received and the actual expense of conducting the fair are met from public funds so that the admission fee can be reduced to a minimum or abolished entirely. Until that ideal condition prevails we must dedicate ourselves to the task of building fairs which meet the needs of today and point the way of progress to a brighter and more satisfying tomorrow.—Northfield News.

TAKES EXCEPTION TO MR. TOTTON'S PROGRAM

THE DISPATCH on February 3, mentioned the talk given by J. M. Totten, deputy game warden at Little Falls, who, as reported by the Little Falls Transcript, recommended for passage in the state legislature this session the one buck law, elimination of fish houses and shortening of spears and shortening of the hunting season on certain game.

Joe Hebert, interested in hunting and fishing and having much experience in this regard, takes exception to some of Mr. Totten's plans. Mr. Hebert says the amount of fish speared in a fish house is nothing compared with the amount of fish caught with hook and line at any time. More fish are caught in Mille Lacs lake the first day of the season than are speared in fish houses for 15 years, says Mr. Hebert, who in this regard does not mean spring spearing in streams or open water, but from fish houses.

Brainerd sportsmen to the number of 600, said Mr. Hebert, have signed petitions and forwarded them to the legislature to not eliminate the fish houses, and furthermore petition to have such season extended from two months to three months, including December, January and February.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S COMMON SENSE

ABRAHAM LINCOLN had a common sense view of life and his expressions were so clearly put that no one ever had any trouble getting his viewpoint.

His conception of American democracy was, "It is a struggle for maintaining in the world that form and substance of government whose leading object is to elevate the condition of men—to lift artificial weights from the shoulders—to clear the paths of laudable pursuits for all—to afford all an unfettered start and a fair chance in the race of life."

Again he has said: "Let us not be slandered from our duty by false accusations against us, nor frightened from it by menaces of destruction to the government, nor of dungeons to ourselves."

"Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it."

"Nothing valuable can be lost by taking time. If there be an object to hurry any of you in hot haste to a step which you would never take deliberately, that object will be frustrated by it."

GEORGE WASHINGTON frequently earned as much as twenty-seven dollars and fifty cents a day as a surveyor, points out Dr. W. E. Barton in an article in a recent issue of Liberty magazine.

BRAINERD
25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

Feb. 4, 1902

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoffman left this afternoon for Los Angeles, Calif., where they expect to visit and be en route for 60 days. They go out by the way of the southern route, returning by the northern.

Last night there was a meeting of the board of education at the Washington school building and all members were present except Mr. Mrs. Groves and Keene. Perhaps the most intricate question which the board has to deal with at the present time is the overcrowded condition of some of the school buildings in the city. To relieve the situation it has been suggested that the seventh grade of the Lowell school in east Brainerd be transferred to the Washington building. The matter was left to the teacher's committee and they will hold a meeting this evening.

The regular meeting of the city council was held in the chambers last night with Vice President Koop in the chair. Those present were Aldermen Halladay, Gardner, Rowley, Fogelstrom, Doran, Erickson, Purdy and Wright. An application was made by P. E. McCabe for a liquor license with the proper sureties attached. On motion the same was granted and the bond approved. The application of J. H. Burton that he be given permission to move his stock of wines and liquors from the "Last Turn" to a room in the Gardner block and continue his business under the same license was on motion, granted.

Bids were opened last night for wood to be furnished the city and Mrs. Stads' bid to furnish 20 cords of jack pine at $2.25 a cord, the one of Dingham and Dougherty for 20 cords of tamarack at $2.75 a cord and the one of P. J. Carley for 50 cords of jack pine at $2.40 a cord were accepted.

Alderman Fogelstrom brought up a matter which is generally conceded to be an important one—that of fixing up the roads leading to the city so that farmers may find less trouble in hauling large loads of produce to market. This matter will also receive the attention of the council this summer and they expect to act in conjunction with the county commissioners.

USING HIS PEAT LANDS

THE DISPATCH notes with interest the announcement of John Hirschey, who has a farm near Staples, to start celery growing. He has secured an expert grower from Hollandale who will arrive early in the spring.

PHILIP ROSENBERG FORFEITS HIS TITLE

LITTLE CHARLEY GIVES GRAHAM ARTISTIC BEATING

BUT LOST CROWN BECAUSE OF OVERWEIGHT OF 4½ POUNDS

BANTAMWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP NOW OPEN; CONTENDERS SOUGHT

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Feb. 5.—Little Charley (Phil) Rosenberg had the unusual experience last night of being ruled out as the bantamweight champion of the world, and then becoming the champion by a decision of two judges and a referee.

Before 13,952 spectators, Rosenberg went in four and a half pounds overweight, and gave Bushy Graham of Utica a most artistic beating.

Rosenberg won practically every round, but before the fifteen rounds were finished, James A. Farley, the chairman of the boxing commission, announced at the ringside that Rosenberg and his manager, Champ Siegel, had been indefinitely suspended.

Commissioner Farley explained that Rosenberg had entered the ring overweight and had violated all the rules of the commission.

He then ruled at the ringside, that inasmuch as Graham had lost the decision, the bantamweight championship was open and that the commission would have to devise a plan to find a new titleholder.

Farley suggested that Bud Taylor, Tony Canzoneri, and Graham fight it out for the title in an eliminator tournament. He said, however, that he would not insist on that plan to the exclusion of other contenders.

The Rosenberg-Graham contest drew a net gate of $66,945 from a paid attendance of 13,952.

Rosenberg had a clear advantage with his superior weight and he won practically every round.

The betting commissioners at the ringside insisted that, despite the disparity in weights, that the men who bet on Rosenberg to win would cash in on their bets.

There were scenes of the greatest activity around the office boxing commission when the two fighters appeared to step on the scales. William Muldoon, the iron duke of the commission, presided at the scales and when Rosenberg weighed 122½ pounds, which was 4½ pounds over the limit he said—"your title is forfeited, young man." Rosenberg then automatically turned over $1,250 to the Garden management as a weight forfeit and $1,250 to Graham, the challenger.

Muldoon was then asked: "If you say that Rosenberg has forfeited the title, what would happen if Rosenberg knocked out or won the decision from Graham?"

"I will not give you a decision until something happens," he answered. "What will be the decision on bets if Graham should lose the fight?" he was asked again.

"Young man," he stormed in a fury, "you know that betting on fights is against the law. If you know of anyone who has bet on this contest it is your duty to let it be known."

Regardless of what Mr. Muldoon thinks there was more betting on this fight than on any contest in years, and even the wise men around Broadway were looking for information.

While New York state will not recognize that Rosenberg successfully defended his championship, it still remains to be seen what the attitude of other states and the boxing world will be in view of the award of the decision to Rosenberg, by the judges and referee. What ever title Rosenberg had when he went into the ring, he defended successfully.

TEX RICKARD'S 1927 POTENTIALITIES

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, Feb. 5.—After one experience in picking an All-American team, Tex Rickard has turned to the dangerous fields.

Last year his delicate hearing apparatus was shocked with the razberries that the boys in the gallery gave his list of the best boxers of 1925 and this year he played safer.

Instead of naming the best boxers of 1926 he picked a list of 1927 potentialities and with the exception of the heavyweight class he grouped all the leading fighters.

Even though he was playing safe he has heard rather general criticism. He couldn't have hoped, however, to classify the boxers to the satisfaction of all and in rating the boxers he could not have helped being influenced from the box office point of view.

In the heavyweight class he named Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey and Jack Sharkey for the first three places in the order named and his high opinion of the former champion was charged with being the first step to ballyhoo a return bout between the two principals of the Sesqui fight.

In the second group of heavies he named Jack Delaney, Paul Berlenbach, Paulino and Jim Maloney and it seemed again as if the box office had been a factor in the placing of the untried and unseen Paulino in such fast company.

Delaney, Berlenbach and Tommy Loughran were placed in the first group of the light heavyweights and no fault can be found with that selection. In the second group he placed Mike McTigue, Young Stribling and Jimmy Slattery. It might be disputed that Slattery deserves a higher rating than Eddie Huffman, Jimmy Delaney and Martin Burke in the third group.

Rickard took a slap at Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, by placing Tiger Flowers, the former champion, ahead of him in the first group with Pete Latzo, the welterweight champion, in third place. In the second group he named Phil Kaplan, Maxey Rosenberg and Dave Shade. He must think a lot of Latzo as a fighter and a drawing card to place him above Kaplan and Rosenberg.

It was fairly easy to rank Latzo, Joe Dundee and Eddie Roberts for the first three places in the welterweight class but Willie Harmon looks out of place in the third group behind Tommy Freeman, George Ward, Al Mello, Ace Hudkins and Jack McVey.

The lightweight ranking was not difficult with Sammy Mandell, the recognized champion, Sid Terris and Billy Wallace in the first three places. Wallace is a new name in high ranking company and he got there because of the knockout victory he scored over Kid Kaplan, the former featherweight champion. Kaplan was placed in the second group after Billy Petrolis and Stanislaus Loyza.

Tod Morgan, the current champion, Jack Bernstein and Babe Herman were given the three leading positions in the junior lightweight class and no fault can be found with that.

There is no recognized featherweight champion but Benny Bass drew Rickard's favor by getting first position ahead of Honeyboy Finnegan and Red Chapman. In the second group were Chick Suggs, Joey Sanger, Babe Herman and Eddie Anderson.

Charley Rosenberg, the champion, was placed first in the bantamweight class with Tony Canzoneri second and Bud Taylor third. Taylor might have been placed second if it hadn't been for a bad slump that he took late in the year when his eyes went bad on him. In the second group were Bushy Graham, Archie Bell, Al Brown and Johnnie Green.

Fidel La Barba, flyweight champion, led his class ahead of Elkey Clark, Frankie Genaro and Newsboy Brown. This rating was made before a recent flyweight carnival in the Garden in which Clark was badly beaten by La Barba and Genaro was defeated by Brown. As a result of this Rickard probably would place Brown second and would put Clark way down on the list if he ranked him at all.

RAINBOW MEN IN CONDITION FOR NEAR GAME

WILL STACK UP AGAINST THE FAST COLD SPRINGS FIVE HERE FEB. 12

THE VISITORS WILL MAKE THEIR INITIAL VISIT TO BRAINERD

Fans will witness a new basketball team on Feb. 12 when the locals take the floor against the fast Cold Springs five that are rated very high in their section of the state.

The Rainbows five have not shown the basketball that they are capable of playing and so some hard practice and other workouts are on the manager's list this week to stage a come-back for the local fans, as in the last two games the Rainbows have played very poor basketball.

Cold Springs will make their appearance on the local floor for the first time in history, so this will be a real contest from start to finish. Their team is made up of three salted players, one former college star and three former high school stars, and with this collection of basketballers, the Rainbows will have to play a hundred per cent better basketball than they have been playing to conquer Cold Springs.

Fans will see their old stars in action again, only to be in their best condition of the season. Engbreton always plays a whale of a game at all times but he can do better and will show the fans a real offense with his running mate, Nutting, who has not shown up so well since the road trip, but has gotten out of that recent slump that all players have, and will prove a hard man to watch when he is right. Welsh, Orth and Fitzsimmons have also been in poor condition due to much basketball and with a week's rest and light workouts are rounding into the best of form. Beresford has been laid up with an injured knee, but has recovered now and expects to be in the line-up for the coming clash. Larson and Ziebell are in good condition along with Lawrenz, who is ready for the fray at any expense. Fans, with this bunch of basketesters in their best condition the best of teams will find them hard to beat.

The management assures you of a real game, and it is considered to be one of the best this year on the local court.

MRS. YOUNG'S ATTORNEY ANNOUNCED SHE HAD ONLY $40 LEFT

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 5.—(UP)—The war of words between George Young, youthful conqueror of the Catalina Channel, and his mother, Mrs. Jean Young, apparently was ended today as the two planned to confer here on a choice of a manager for Young.

Mrs. Young left Los Angeles suddenly last night for San Francisco, accompanied by asister-in-law, Isabella Young, and an attorney. Her departure followed a refusal by Young to meet her in Santa Maria to discuss his business affairs.

Young is understood to have pleaded that a theatrical engagement made his appearance in Santa Maria impossible at this time.

Mrs. Young's attorney had announced that she was ill and had only $40 left between herself and want. Young received nationwide sympathy in his channel swim when he announced he had entered the race merely to obtain funds to build a home for his mother.

LITTLE CHARLEY GIVES GRAHAM ARTISTIC BEATING

BUT LOST CROWN BECAUSE OF OVERWEIGHT OF 4½ POUNDS

BANTAMWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP NOW OPEN; CONTENDERS SOUGHT

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Feb. 5.—Little Charley (Phil) Rosenberg had the unusual experience last night of being ruled out as the bantamweight champion of the world, and then becoming the champion by a decision of two judges and a referee.

Before 13,952 spectators, Rosenberg went in four and a half pounds overweight, and gave Bushy Graham of Utica a most artistic beating.

Rosenberg won practically every round, but before the fifteen rounds were finished, James A. Farley, the chairman of the boxing commission, announced at the ringside that Rosenberg and his manager, Champ Siegel, had been indefinitely suspended.

Commissioner Farley explained that Rosenberg had entered the ring overweight and had violated all the rules of the commission.

He then ruled at the ringside, that inasmuch as Graham had lost the decision, the bantamweight championship was open and that the commission would have to devise a plan to find a new titleholder.

Farley suggested that Bud Taylor, Tony Canzoneri, and Graham fight it out for the title in an eliminating tournament. He said, however, that he would not insist on that plan to the exclusion of other contenders.

The Rosenberg-Graham contest drew a net gate of $66,945 from a paid attendance of 13,952.

Rosenberg had a clear advantage with his superior weight and he won practically every round.

The betting commissioners at the ringside insisted that, despite the disparity in weights, that the men who bet on Rosenberg to win would cash in on their bets.

There were scenes of the greatest activity around the office boxing commission when the two fighters appeared to step on the scales. William Muldoon, the iron duke of the commission, presided at the scales and when Rosenberg weighed 122½ pounds, which was 4½ pounds over the limit he said—"your title is forfeited, young man." Rosenberg then automatically turned over $1,250 to the Garden management as a weight forfeit and $1,250 to Graham, the challenger.

Muldoon was then asked: "If you say that Rosenberg has forfeited the title, what would happen if Rosenberg knocked out or won the decision from Graham?"

"I will not give you a decision until something happens," he answered. "What will be the decision on bets if Graham should lose the fight?" he was asked again.

"Young man," he stormed in a fury, "you know that betting on fights is against the law. If you know of anyone who has bet on this contest it is your duty to let it be known."

Regardless of what Mr. Muldoon thinks there was more betting on this fight than on any contest in years, and even the wise men around Broadway were looking for information.

While New York state will not recognize that Rosenberg successfully defended his championship, it still remains to be seen what the attitude of other states and the boxing world will be in view of the award of the decision to Rosenberg, by the judges and referee. Whatever title Rosenberg had when he went into the ring, he defended successfully.

The Bulgarians and the Russians have the records of the greatest longevity among white peoples. Bulgaria has 3,300 centenarians in a population of a little over 4,000,000, compared with 104 in France and 94 in Great Britain.

Origin of Stud Book
Stud books, in connection with the breeding of racehorses, are said to have originated in the mind of Joseph Butler, who, about 150 years ago, had charge of several famous racing stables in England.

DR. ROY SMITH'S SATURDAY NIGHT TALKS

By the REV. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.
Pastor Simpson M. E. Church, Minneapolis

THE BIRD IN THE HAND

The bird we have safely in our hand frequently robs us of a much better bird in the bush that we might catch.

A truck driver for a big Minneapolis manufacturer sat up on his high seat waiting for the other truckster to return from delivering a package. As he waited he sketched pictures on the back of a bill of lading.

The next day that bill of lading, with its pencilled sketches, passed under the eye of a member of the firm. The truck driver was called in and shame-facedly admitted defacing the papers.

"Who taught you to draw?" the employer asked.
"Nobody. I just draw because I like to, but I can't draw much," said the driver stammeringly.

That afternoon the employer sent the bill of lading to a business friend of his who hired artists. "I may be mistaken but this looks like talent to me," explained the boss to his friend.

"That is talent," said the artist. "Send that fellow to me and I will give him a job and start him at fifty a week."

The next day the truck driver was called in again, this time to hear about a new job. Fifty dollars a week ought to look good to a twenty-three dollar a week truck driver.

"But I can't draw. I never had a lesson in my life. I'm a good enough truck driver. I know I can do that. I guess I had better stick," said the fellow with fear in his eyes and nothing could budge him.

A year later the boss found it necessary to reorganize his business and the artist-driver was slated for dismissal. The boss called the artist friend again and found that the offer was still open. This time the driver was called in and fired. At last he was out of a job. The situation was serious. Something had to be done.

"That artist's job is still open. You'd better go over and try it," advised the boss and the driver reluctantly applied and was accepted.

His salary the first three weeks was fifty dollars. Then he got a raise. A few weeks later he got another. Then another. He has been with the new firm less than a year and his pay check last week was one hundred and twenty-five dollars.

He might have been drawing one hundred and twenty-five dollars a week for the last two years if he had not been such a good truck driver at twenty-three dollars a week and afraid to go after the bird in the bush.

HEDDA HOYT TELLS

ABOUT BLACK AND WHITE

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, Feb. 5.—(UP)—If it's black and white, it's sure to be in style at present. Gowns, sports frocks, coats, bathing suits, pocketbooks and hats carried out in black and white are being featured by most of the leading Fifth Avenue shops this week.

One effective window displays several afternoon gowns made with white georgette or silk crepe jumpers and with full-swaying black taffeta skirts. The jumpers have bands of self-material draped about the hips, tying at one side. The black taffeta skirts are circular in effect.

Jersey sports frocks of black and white are strongly stressed in the sports wear departments of smart shops. Sometimes the white jumper has large black squares extending horizontally about the body while sleeves, collar and hip band remain white. Skirts are invariably white.

A smart little white sports frocks adds a touch of black by using a huge black monogram on the front of the jumper. The accessories worn with black and white sports frocks include white fox fur piece, white felt hat, white kid shoes, piped and strapped in black patent, and black and white pocketbook.

Black and white jersey bathing suits are prominently featured in one shop window. In each case the short trunks are black while the upper portion is white. One model uses three wide black stripes across the body and another relieves its white tunic top by a large black monogram and black patent belt. White jersey beach wraps are worn over these little black and white bathing suits and white rubberized silk caps with flowers and black and white parasols complete the ensemble idea.

Some of the very newest fur coats use black and white combinations. One model of black broad tail has a wide scarf of white ermine which is worn with one scarf end hanging in front and the other thrown over the shoulder. Black cloth coats for Spring are very often collared in white ermine. White fox on black cloth coats is also used. One such model has a wide band of fox extending from neck to hem line. Black and white is noted repeatedly in evening gown displays.

THE BIBLE—READ IT

By Rev. Alexander G. Patterson
Shall we read it because of what someone says of it or because of what it is?

Why should a young person or anyone read the Bible? The answer must come from the Bible itself. Any recommendation on the part of anyone is but a recommendation, and is valued as the best judgement of that person.

The Bible stands alone among all books. It is what it is. No one thinks of trying to prove it or of establishing its validity by argument. It needs no apology or defense. Wherever it has been in use it has manifested itself as the Word of God. It has no introductory statement—saying, "Now you are going to hear God speak. He begins to speak and continues to speak until the book is finished. Many times the statement is made "And God said."

It speaks to those who have anything to do with boys and girls. "These words which I command you this day, shall be upon thy heart; and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thy house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thy hand, and they shall be for frontlets between thy eyes. And thou shalt write them upon the doorposts of thy house, and upon thy gates." The reason for its use in the family is here.

It has a rule for prosperity and success. "This book the law shall not depart out of thy mouth, but thou shalt meditate thereon day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein: for then shalt thou make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success." The way of success and prosperity is in the book.

It gives us the time to do all this. "Remember also thy Creator in the days of thy youth." Its to be used when one is young.

What is one's outstanding duty? "Fear God and keep his commandments for this is the whole duty of man." You have the highest authority on that.

It tells your family how to keep from offending God. "Thy word have I laid up in my heart, that I might not sin against thee." Another reason within the book.

The best help on the way. "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path." But you find that in the book itself.

It guides to personal salvation. "And that from a babe thou hast known the Scriptures which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus." And you find the guide in the Book.

It meets every inquiry of the mind and the reason for reading it is in the book.

The Bible—It was Gladstones daily text-book, Lincolns daily guide, Garfields daily comfort, McKinley's daily council. Some one has said—"This Book will keep you from sin or sin will keep you from the book."

Charming Semi-Evening Dress Is of Georgette

This handsome semi-evening frock is of black georgette, trimmed with flesh-colored taffeta flowers, affording an interesting gown for formal occasions.

Vanity Cases Offered in Interesting Styles

Vanity cases, flat and not much larger than those carried by so many of the younger set nowadays, are doubly equipped. When opened it reveals two sections, one side being fitted with a tray to which is attached a set of the usual articles. On the other side is a camera built in so that it remains permanent at all times. It takes standard size films and is operated like any other camera when the case is closed, the window and lens being about the same place as in the ordinary camera. A large mirror on the inside of the cover is another new feature of this type of case. Heretofore only the very expensive French cases have had their covers so equipped.

Another case, much smaller than the ordinary sizes of overnight bag, has but a few fittings in the tray section. Underneath is a space just large enough to hold one or two silk garments. Then for those who prefer to carry their toilet articles in one of the rubberized cases that roll up, there is a bag fitted only with a mirror in the cover and shirred side pockets. The one innovation in most of the cases being shown this season is the wide range of colors from which they may be selected. It is now possible to choose an overnight case to match any handbag. Then, too, there is the introduction of Florentine work.

Use of Both Sides of Satin Detail of Mode

The use of both sides of satin continues to be an important detail of fashion. Strikingly effective, the contrast in textures achieved by a combination of the dull and lustrous surfaces is not only exceedingly smart, but in many cases is more becoming than when the shiny side alone is used. In dark tones the effect is perhaps a bit more interesting, although in one of the gowns designed by a famous French creator both sides of rosin's egg blue satin were put together in one of the most beautiful frocks.

Among the colors that have been widely exploited both by shops and in the costumes of smart women is a shade of blue a bit brighter than sapphire and not so vivid as the royal or flag blue tones. This is the shade in which an interesting frock is developed. Satin finished crepe is the material used, with the dull surface draperies, while the lustrous side appears in smaller areas on the skirt, at the wrists and in the opening of the elongated V neckline.

This same shade of blue appears in several of the smartest evening frocks which are fashioned of velvet and cleverly draped into new lines that emphasize the natural waistline and hint at a suggestion of a blouse.

THE BIBLE—READ IT

By Rev. Alexander G. Patterson
Shall we read it because of what someone says of it or because of what it is?

Why should a young person or anyone read the Bible? The answer must come from the Bible itself. Any recommendation on the part of anyone is but a recommendation, and is valued as the best judgement of that person.

The Bible stands alone among all books. It is what it is. No one thinks of trying to prove it or of establishing its validity by argument. It needs no apology or defense. Wherever it has been in use it has manifested itself as the Word of God. It has no introductory statement—saying, "Now you are going to hear God speak. He begins to speak and continues to speak until the book is finished. Many times the statement is made "And God said."

It speaks to those who have anything to do with boys and girls. "These words which I command you this day, shall be upon thy heart; and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thy house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thy hand, and they shall be for frontlets between thy eyes. And thou shalt write them upon the doorposts of thy house, and upon thy gates." The reason for its use in the family is here.

It has a rule for prosperity and success. "This book the law shall not depart out of thy mouth, but thou shalt meditate thereon day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein: for then shalt thou make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success." The way of success and prosperity is in the book.

It gives us the time to do all this. "Remember also thy Creator in the days of thy youth." Its to be used when one is young.

What is one's outstanding duty? "Fear God and keep his commandments for this is the whole duty of man." You have the highest authority on that.

It tells your family how to keep from offending God. "Thy word have I laid up in my heart, that I might not sin against thee." Another reason within the book.

The best help on the way. "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path." But you find that in the book itself.

It guides to personal salvation. "And that from a babe thou hast known the Scriptures which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus." And you find the guide in the book.

It meets every inquiry of the mind and the reason for reading it is in the book.

The Bible—It was Gladstones daily text-book, Lincolns daily guide, Garfields daily comfort, McKinleys daily council. Some one has said—"This Book will keep you from sin or sin will keep you from the book."

Charming Semi-Evening Dress Is of Georgette

This handsome semi-evening frock is of black georgette, trimmed with flesh-colored taffeta flowers, affording an interesting gown for formal occasions.

Vanity Cases Offered in Interesting Styles

Vanity cases, flat and not much larger than those carried by so many of the younger set nowadays, are doubly equipped. When opened it reveals two sections, one side being fitted with a tray to which is attached a set of the usual articles. On the other side is a camera built in so that it remains permanent at all times. It takes standard size films and is operated like any other camera when the case is closed, the window and lens being about the same place as in the ordinary camera. A large mirror on the inside of the cover is another new feature of this type of case. Heretofore only the very expensive French cases have had their covers so equipped.

Another case, much smaller than the ordinary sizes of overnight bag, has but a few fittings in the tray section. Underneath is a space just large enough to hold one or two silk garments. Then for those who prefer to carry their toilet articles in one of the rubberized cases that roll up, there is a bag fitted only with a mirror in the cover and shirred side pockets. The one innovation in most of the cases being shown this season is the wide range of colors from which they may be selected. It is now possible to choose an overnight case to match any handbag. Then, too, there is the introduction of Florentine work.

Use of Both Sides of Satin Detail of Mode

The use of both sides of satin continues to be an important detail of fashion. Strikingly effective, the contrast in textures achieved by a combination of the dull and lustrous surfaces is not only exceedingly smart, but in many cases is more becoming than when the shiny side alone is used. In dark tones the effect is perhaps a bit more interesting, although in one of the gowns designed by a famous French creator both sides of robin's egg blue satin were put together in one of the most beautiful frocks.

Among the colors that have been widely exploited both by shops and in the costumes of smart women is a shade of blue a bit brighter than sapphire and not so vivid as the royal or flag blue tones. This is the shade in which an interesting frock is developed. Satin finished crepe is the material used, with the dull surface draperies, while the lustrous side appears in smaller areas on the skirt, at the wrists and in the opening of the elongated V neckline.

This same shade of blue appears in several of the smartest evening frocks which are fashioned of velvet and cleverly draped into new lines that emphasize the natural waistline and hint at a suggestion of a blouse.

French Horn Section
The French horn section of the band consists of the following players: Gerald Cass, Guy Hall, Josepa Muller, Woodrow Wilson.

This section is very important on account of its adaptability to a large variety of music. The French horn is an instrument used for solo work and stands without a rival as to its soft quality of tone. All the players in the band are adept musicians notwithstanding the fact that all but Guy Hall, who has been with the band since it was organized, are practically new members. The French horn is an essential part in any band and therefore horn players will always find a place to display their talents.

MOTHER CARRIES BABE FOR MILES THROUGH WATER

TRUMAN TRIES VALIANTLY TO PREVENT FURTHER BREAKS IN LEVEE

500 HEAD OF LIVESTOCK ARE DROWNED; BLACK RIVER OVERFLOWS

Truman, Ark., Feb. 5.—(UP)—Truman divided its attention today between caring for refugees from 15,000 acres of flooded bottom land in the vicinity, and efforts to prevent further breaks in the river levee.

The east side of the city is already under two feet of water, which is spreading rapidly. All roads from the city are flooded. Only transportation is by rail and boat and there are but three boats available.

Tulsa, a neighboring town, is under three and a half feet of water. Between 5,000 and 6,000 acres around the settlement is flooded. Only the roof tops are out of water at Hatchie Coon.

Relief workers estimate there are 1,000 refugees here and at Tulsa. Representatives of the Salvation Army are giving aid and a local committee is raising funds for relief work.

An appeal has been sent to the Red Cross for relief trains. All refugees at Brassfield are being cared for by citizens. Many of those driven from their homes are destitute, as result of the floods and the poor cotton season.

At least 500 head of livestock has been drowned, according to estimates.

The outstanding heroine of the flood is a mother who carried her 14-day-old baby for several miles through deep water into Truman. She is being cared for by relief workers.

According to reports here, the bottom land east of Pochonatas has been covered by overflow from the Black river.

In the Twinkling of an Eye

By MARTHA M. WILLIAMS

(Copyright)

MARTHA'S world changed in the twinkling of an eye. She fell asleep poor and joyful—she waked to wealth and woe. For the wealth meant loss of so much—the home she so loved, the people in it she had called always father and mother, who had given her in return love and cherishing, the name she had been so proud of—Martha Allison Lewis; worst of all, her sweetheart, Thomas Elton—who was by way of becoming also a Thomas, the Rhymer.

Truly a sorry miracle—yet no whit mysterious. She was born a waif, rescued somehow from a burning boat. The kind foster parents had taken her to their home and hearts, holding her heaven-sent to comfort them for the baby they had just lost. Grief for it had already put them in the mind to move—so they had gone, taking the baby to a distant new home.

If only she hadn't been such a witch at tennis, she might never have known, Mother Lewis lamented. Then her picture wouldn't have been printed. When she won the cup her blood grandmother had seen it and had been so struck by the likeness to her dead daughter, she had set about investigating—with a result of discovering her grandchild. Her husband had been haunted all along by a ghost—hope of the baby's survival. When he died a year before, he had willed his estate and the great fortune that belonged with it, to the great-nephew legally adopted—but on condition of searching diligently for the mythical grandchild—and if found within five years, marrying her. Thus there would be more Pendleton blood in the inheritor of the fortune. The heir got it through his mother—but that had been remedied easily—he had taken the name along with the rest.

He insisted that Martha's foster parents must go along with the daughter they were giving up, to Pendleton.

French Horn Section
The French horn section of the band consists of the following players: Gerald Cass, Guy Hall, Josepa Muller, Woodrow Wilson.

This section is very important on account of its adaptability to a large variety of music. The French horn is an instrument used for solo work and stands without a rival as to its soft quality of tone. All the players in the band are adept musicians notwithstanding the fact that all but Guy Hall, who has been with the band since it was organized, are practically new members. The French horn is an essential part in any band and therefore horn players will always readily find a place to display their talents.

Unlike Land

First Passenger—Isn't the ocean grand and majestic?

Second Passenger—Yes; and there's an indefinable something about it that impresses me strangely.

First—I feel that way, too. I guess it's the utter absence of billboards.

Suspicious

"Why is this man before me?"
"Your honor, we think he is running a school for crime."

"What makes you think that?"
"When we nabbed him he was lecturing on how to enter a drawing room."

Easy Come, Easy Go

Jones—For a while Williams was clean out of his mind about that girl, Smith—And now?

Jones—Oh, now the girl is clean out of his mind.—Stray Stories.

Too Dangerous

Mr. Oldacre—Have you a percola in your garden?

Mrs. Newrich—Not now. We found it barked at the tradespeople, so we had to get rid of it.—Tit-Bits.

RUIN IVY

"She clings to him like ivy."
"Well, he's an old ruin."

Forgotten Lore

Of wisdom China has a lot.
The records plainly show—
But most of it those folks forgot

MOTHER CARRIES BABE FOR MILES THROUGH WATER

TRUMAN TRIES VALIANTLY TO PREVENT FURTHER BREAKS IN LEEVEE

500 HEAD OF LIVESTOCK ARE DROWNED; BLACK RIVER OVERFLOWS

Truman, Ark., Feb. 5.—(UP)—Truman divided its attention today between caring for refugees from 15,000 acres of flooded bottom land in the vicinity, and efforts to prevent further breaks in the river levee.

The east side of the city is already under two feet of water, which is spreading rapidly. All roads from the city are flooded. Only transportation is by rail and boat and there are but three boats available.

Tulot, a neighboring town, is under three and a half feet of water. Between 5,000 and 6,000 acres around the settlement is flooded. Only the roof tops are out of water at Hatchie Coon.

Relief workers estimate there are 1,000 refugees here, and at Tulot. Representatives of the Salvation Army are giving aid and a local committee is raising funds for relief work.

An appeal has been sent to the Red Cross for relief trains. All refugees at Brassfield are being cared for by citizens. Many of those driven from their homes are destitute, as result of the floods and the poor cotton season.

At least 500 head of livestock has been drowned, according to estimates.

The outstanding heroine of the flood is a mother who carried her 14-day-old baby for several miles through deep water into Truman. She is being cared for by relief workers.

According to reports here, the bottom land east of Pocahontas has been covered by overflow from the Black river.

PRICE REDUCTION OF BREAD ANNOUNCED

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 5.—(UP)—A 13-ounce loaf of bread for five cents will be available to housewives in the Metropolitan area, the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company announced today. The price reduction will become effective Monday.

The 2,900 "A. & P." stores in and around New York will be supplied with 1,000,000 loaves at that price daily, the company said, adding that five-cent bread probably soon would be introduced in other sections of the country where its stores operate.

In most parts of the country the five cent loaf disappeared during the world war.

In the Twinkling of an Eye

By MARTHA M. WILLIAMS

(Copyright)

MARTHA'S world changed in the twinkling of an eye. She fell asleep poor and joyful—she waked to wealth and woe. For the wealth meant loss of so much—the home she so loved, the people in it she had called always father and mother, who had given her in return love and cherishing, the name she had been so proud of—Martha Alison Lewis; worst of all, her sweetheart, Thomas Elton—who was by way of becoming also a Thomas, the Rhymist.

Truly a sorry miracle—yet no whit mysterious. She was born a walf, rescued somehow from a burning boat. The kind foster parents had taken her to their home and hearts, holding her heaven-sent to comfort them for the baby they had just lost. Grief for it had already put them in the mind to move—so they had gone, taking the baby to a distant new home.

If only she hadn't been such a witch at tennis, she might never have known, Mother Lewis lamented. Then her picture wouldn't have been printed. When she won the cup her blood grandmother had seen it and had been so struck by the likeness to her dead daughter, she had set about investigating—with a result of discovering her grandchild. Her husband had been haunted all along by a ghost—hope of the baby's survival. When he died a year before, he had willed his estate and the great fortune that belonged with it, to the great-nephew legally adopted—but on condition of searching diligently for the mythical grandchild—and if found within five years, marrying her. Thus there would be more Pendleton blood in the inheritor of the fortune. The heir got it through his mother—but that had been remedied easily—he had taken the name along with the rest.

He insisted that Martha's foster parents must go along with the daughter they were giving up, to Penfold.

A Convenient House Designed in the Spirit of the West

Seven-Room House No. 709

THIS house is comfortable, well arranged and typical of the best ideas in architecture developed in our rolling middle-western prairie states. It combines economy and utility with unassuming charm and undeniable beauty. Primarily it is livable.

It offers rare possibilities for fine brickwork though the general proportions and fenestration require nothing more of the wall surfaces than an appropriate bond pattern, such as Flemish, English, or Garden Wall. A face brick either in mingled or uniform shades could be used.

The frank, sheltered entrance, with its paneled door should be approached by a walk of brick the same shade as used in the house. The porch, placed at the side of the house, obtains a view of the garden at the rear as well as of the street. It may be easily converted into the popular sun parlor, if so desired, by enclosing with brick to the height of the window sills, and sash above.

Convenience is the keynote of this plan. In the fine entrance hall, open to the living room, the stairway is so arranged that one may go upstairs from the kitchen unseen from the living room, thus combining front and rear stairways in one.

There are two closets off the hall, one of which could be used exclusively for children's wraps. The kitchen is well lighted and ventilated and is connected with the dining room by a serving pantry in which is placed the refrigerator for convenience to both the kitchen and dining room and for icing from the outside. Besides, the pantry contains a dishwashing sink, a broom closet, and china cabinets adjoining the dining room. The dining and living rooms are connected by French doors and each opens onto the side porch, suitable for dining purposes in pleasant weather.

There are three fine bedrooms upstairs with closets; two of which are exceptionally large. A doorway from one room leads to the flat roof over the rear porch and pantry, where bedding and clothing could be aired. A good sewing room and a well appointed bath complete the floor.

The basement provides for the heating plant, fuel bins, laundry, plenty of storage space, and a vegetable cellar.

The ceiling heights are, first floor 9 feet, second floor 8 feet 8 inches, and the content is 30,875 cubic feet.

Direct Sound Warning

Despite the fact that the blue sky is a persistent jolter and a noisy, bothersome and happy-go-lucky chap, he is really a remarkable bird.

The blue jay and the crow have a distinctive language of their own and one which is understood by many other species of wild life. Ducks as well as deer, foxes, rabbits, squirrels, woodchucks and many others understand crow and jay talk.

Close observations have proved that many species of wild life will heed the alarm call of both the jay and crow and will immediately upon hearing either of these birds seek the shelter of their dens or some thick patch of briar.

Gleaming Brocades for Stylish Winter Wraps

In a season when the gorgeousness of fur trimmings is an outstanding feature of the modes, wraps which rely entirely upon the beauty of the material and the manner in which it is handled stand out with great definiteness. Nothing could be lovelier or richer than the fabrics used. Rich brocades that gleam with metal and are aglow with changing colors, supple chiffons embossed with velvet, and laces with faint shadows of exquisite color in their patterns are chosen for wraps and coats which express the spirit of luxury that marks the fashions of this winter.

Strike-Out Record for 1926 Awarded to Yanks

The New York Yankees, pennant winners of the American league last season, carried off a rather dubious record. The Yanks were the easiest team in the league for opposing twirlers to strike out.

A free-swinging club is always the easiest to take on strikes, and the Yankees were no exception to the rule.

With a team composed of Ruth, Meusel and Paschal in the outfield, Gazzella at third and Koenig at short, Lazzeri on second, Gehrig at first and Pat Collins behind the bat, the club, exclusive of the pitcher, averaged 53 strike outs per player during the season.

Tony Lazzeri, who fanned so ignominiously in the final game of the world series when Alexander relieved Haines with the bases filled, was merely living up to his season's reputation.

When "Push 'Em-Up Tony" was hitting the ball on the nose he also was indulging in plenty of strike outs, leading the league in that respect with 96. Despite this, Tony was a much feared batter.

Here are the number of strike outs by various Yanks: Lazzeri, 96; Ruth, 76; Gehrig, 72; Collins, 55; Koenig, 37; Paschal, 35; Meusel, 32; Gazzella, 24, a total of 427 for eight regular players.

A Convenient House Designed in the Spirit of the West

Seven-Room House No. 709

Designed for American Face Brick Association

THIS house is comfortable, well arranged and typical of the best ideas in architecture developed in our rolling middle-western prairie states. It combines economy and utility with unassuming charm and undeniable beauty. Primarily it is livable.

It offers rare possibilities for fine brickwork though the general proportions and fenestration require nothing more of the wall surfaces than an appropriate bond pattern, such as Flemish, English, or Garden Wall. A face brick either in mingled or uniform shades could be used.

The frank, sheltered entrance, with its paneled door should be approached by a walk of brick the same shade as used in the house. The porch, placed at the side of the house, obtains a view of the garden at the rear as well as of the street. It may be easily converted into the popular sun parlor, if so desired, by enclosing with brick to the height of the window sills, and sash above.

Convenience is the keynote of this plan. In the fine entrance hall, open to the living room, the stairway is so arranged that one may go upstairs from the kitchen unseen from the living room, thus combining front and rear stairways in one.

There are two closets off the hall, one of which could be used exclusively for children's wraps. The kitchen is well lighted and ventilated and is connected with the dining room by a serving pantry in which is placed the refrigerator for convenience to both the kitchen and dining room and for icing from the outside. Besides, the pantry contains a dishwashing sink, a broom closet, and china cabinets adjoining the dining room. The dining and living rooms are connected by French doors and each opens onto the side porch, suitable for dining purposes in pleasant weather.

There are three fine bedrooms upstairs with closets; two of which are exceptionally large. A doorway from one room leads to the flat roof over the rear porch and pantry, where bedding and clothing could be aired. A good sewing room and a well appointed bath complete the floor. The basement provides for the heating plant, fuel bins, laundry, plenty of storage space, and a vegetable cellar.

The ceiling heights are, first floor 9 feet, second floor 8 feet 8 inches, and the content is 30,875 cubic feet.

Birds Sound Warning

Despite the fact that the blue jay is a persistent joker and a noisy, bothersome and lumpy-bodied chap, he is really a remarkable bird.

The blue jay and the crow have a distinctive language of their own and one which is understood by many other species of wild life. Ducks as well as deer, foxes, rabbits, squirrels, woodchucks and many others understand crow and jay talk.

Close observations have proved that many species of wild life will heed the alarm call of both the jay and crow and will immediately upon hearing either of these birds seek the shelter of their dens or some thick patch of briar.

Gleaming Brocades for

Stylish Winter Wraps

In a season when the gorgeousness of fur trimmings is an outstanding feature of the modes, wraps which rely entirely upon the beauty of the material and the manner in which it is handled stand out with great definiteness. Nothing could be lovelier or richer than the fabrics used. Rich brocades that gleam with metal and are aglow with changing colors, supple chiffons embossed with velvet, and laines with faint shadows of exquisite color in their patterns are chosen for wraps and coats which express the spirit of luxury that marks the fashions of this winter.

Fur Resembles Chinchilla

Drevel exploits the full-length sports coat of light woolen mixture, or the Shetland cardigans sometimes trimmed in "lapin lodien," the new fur resembling chinchilla. Vionnet elaborates her dolman armholes, often so loose as to reach the waist.

Strike-Out Record for

1926 Awarded to Yanks

The New York Yankees, pennant winners of the American league last season, carried off a rather dubious record. The Yanks were the easiest team in the league for opposing twirlers to strike out.

A free-swinging club is always the easiest to take on strikes, and the Yankees were no exception to the rule.

With a team composed of Ruth, Meusel and Paschal in the outfield, Gazzella at third and Koenig at short, Lazzeri on second, Gehrig at first and Pat Collins behind the bat, the club, exclusive of the pitcher, averaged 53 strike outs per player during the season.

Tony Lazzeri, who fanned so ignominiously in the final game of the world series when Alexander relieved Haines with the bases filled, was merely living up to his season's reputation.

When "Push 'Em-Up Tony" was hitting the ball on the nose he also was indulging in plenty of strike outs, leading the league in that respect with 96. Despite this, Tony was a much feared batter.

Here are the number of strike outs by various Yanks: Lazzeri, 96; Ruth, 76; Gehrig, 72; Collins, 55; Koenig, 37; Paschal, 35; Meusel, 32; Gazzella, 24, a total of 427 for eight regular players.
